

Dear Hiring Manager,

I am writing to express my interest in a Product / Project Manager position at your organization. With 2+ years of experience managing digital products and technology projects, I bring a combination of product thinking, technical understanding, project execution, and strong cross-functional collaboration.

In my current role at Webwise Studio, I work across the complete product lifecycle — from understanding business and client requirements and researching solutions to defining features, creating user flows and wireframes, coordinating UI/UX and development, managing QA and UAT, and supporting product launches. I work closely with clients, designers, developers, QA teams, and other stakeholders to turn business requirements into practical, scalable digital solutions.

My experience includes managing Agile/Scrum workflows, sprint planning, priorities, timelines, dependencies, risks, testing, releases, and day-to-day project coordination. I also have hands-on exposure to technologies and platforms including Shopify, HubSpot, Wix, WordPress, WooCommerce, and React, which allows me to communicate effectively with technical teams and understand both product and implementation perspectives.

What differentiates me is my ability to operate between business and technology. I don't look at a project only from a delivery perspective; I focus on understanding the underlying business problem, defining the right solution, communicating requirements clearly, and ensuring that the final product delivers value to its users and stakeholders.

I am particularly interested in joining a technology-driven organization where I can take greater ownership of products and projects, work with cross-functional teams, solve complex problems, and contribute to building products that create measurable business and user value.

I would welcome the opportunity to discuss how my product, project management, and technical experience could contribute to your team.

Thank you for your time and consideration.

Sincerely,

Yugal Patidar
